Poems by Eleni Begetis Anastos

THE THREE SISTERS Outside my town, the Lemon Tree village In the rocky hills Three little olive trees embrace against the havoc of the wind No other tree could survive They break, eventually, and bow to the earth Only the green grass grows Because it is humble and yields to the wind's blows	But the olive trees twine 'round each other They grow healthy and strong Standing tall and proud, holding one another Three sisters—one body, one heart, one soul Undaunted, standing for the ages Not fearing hail, rain, or the wind's ferocious blasts And they will stand for centuries in this place A strong example of love as time passes	KISMET According to an old Spartan custom When I was of very small age My mother scattered toys around me To see what destiny had written on my page I picked up a key and a pencil My mother's imagination spread afar She was sure now that writing Was written in my stars	For years I was a dilettante Every job was tiring or boring Until one day in a poets' nest I happened to come to rest For the first time I felt I was a "part" Of a family, not an outcast I don't know if I am a poet But I know I was never anything else
